Response:

The observation of practice teaching is a shared responsibility of the college and concerned school. All the classes taken by each pupil teacher are observed in different modes. The observation can be done by following means like peer observation, subject teacher in-charge observation, mentor teacher observation, feedback by students and teachers etc.

Teacher educator/s is the one who coordinates with school principal, school mentors and the internee students. The teacher is in constant touch with the school, visits the school intermittently. The school mentors also keep the college teachers informed about the performance of interns. Moreover, one or sometimes two students are made leaders of the group who also keep tab of time table adjustments or other aspects like any challenges they face in the school, they also keep the TEI's teachers informed.

They observe the class and give their feedback for better teaching learning process and also for the professional growth of interns. In addition to this college teacher and the school teachers along with their staff helps the intern to plan and organise curricular and co-curricular activities for the students. The internship is duly certified by the head of the practicing school after ensuring that each student has completed all the activities. An internship certificate is issued by the concerned school to each pupil teacher.

Role of School Teachers:

The pupil teachers are under the supervision of senior teachers of the school who act as mentors. The classroom performance is observed and evaluated by the mentors and suitable feedback and corrective measures are suggested to them. School teachers assign various duties to student
